

How to rez this castle:

First of all, do it when the neighbour is not here if you have a quarter sim... :)) then:

You must choose carefully the place where you put the rezzer (package). I join a picture (black hawk castle plan) in the box to let you know the form of the castle (it's not square or rectangular; it would be too simple! :) ) and the location of the rezzer. The approx location is the middle of the width and the 1/3 of the length). Take care of the red and green arrows on the plan. They inform you about the direction and rotation of the rezzer.

There's a cavern under the castle (with jails) so the best way is to lower the land just above the sea level, to put the rezzer on the ground and to raise it of 23 meters. (Did i say to you that it is a gigantic castle? lol)

After that, fly two or three meters above the rezzer, take a breath, and click on "rez"...

If you are still alive after that, congratulations. You can now adjust the position of your castle by moving the rezzer and then, when it is done, click on save or store (the "store" action writes automatically the location of each part in the description of their general tab)

I give you a trick: when the building is in the correct position, note the exact location and rotation in the description of the rezzer before to take it in your inventory, so if you need to redo your castle, the new one will be exactly at the same place than the ancient. Furthermore, i suggest you to lock each part of the castle to avoid an error.

But, it is not over! You must now do your terraform around the castle to adjust it in the landscape. Be careful to not fill the cavern.

Where is the trap door to go into the cave? Ah ah ah ah ah.... search! And good luck!

If you choose the without door (full version only), you'll find the way immediately or almost immediately , but that's not fair ! Adjust the position of the kool doors appropriately. You'll find a lot of perfect medieval noises in my shop (the one for portcullis is really... medieval)

If you need help, contact me IW, i will be please to help and maybe to rp with you (i'm a panther... grrrrr).

I'm sure this castle will delight you for a long time!
