Terms of use

By purchasing the "SH Textures" you are presumed to have read the contents of this End User License Agreement prior to purchase, and you agree to the following permissions and restrictions governing their Terms of Use:

You acknowledge that 'Full Permission', as it applies to asset rights within Second Life®, does not grant nor imply any transfer of Intellectual Property Rights to you, the buyer. Intellectual Property Ownership and Copyright continues to be held in perpetuity by "SH Textures".

You may:

- apply the textures to the surfaces of items you create. These items may be for personal use or for sale in Second Life® or on web-based marketplaces, which cater to Second Life® and its users, including Second Life® Merchant Marketplace.
- download the textures to your computer and modify them to complete your own building projects. Modified versions of my textures constitute Derivative Works and continue to be governed by the same End User License Agreement and Terms of Use outlined in this document.
- apply your own modified versions of the textures to the surfaces of the items which you sell in Second Life® or on the marketplaces.

You may not:

- resell, give away, or trade "SH Textures"
- sell or give away for free or in trade any "SH Textures" textures/texturefiles/texture assets, nor include them as texture files within the item contents of primitive-based objects or notecards.
- sell or give away for free or in trade any "SH Textures" textures/texture files/texture assets which you have edited and/or modified on your computer (derivative works), nor include them as texture files within the item contents of primitive-based objects or notecards.
- upload "SH Textures" textures into any other virtual world except for Second Life®.
