

First, I'd like to say thank you for your interest in my product. If you have purchased it already, I hope you enjoy it as the price indicated is not a price that reflects the amount of time it took, nor what I think it's worth. In fact as you can see most of my items are 9 lindens or lower. This allows you, the buyer, to purchase what you want, even if you live on a budget or dance for lindens.

Now for some background on me. First off, Call me Arq. It's pronounced ARK. My full name on the game is Arquillius, which is pronounced ARE-Quil-EE-Us. I have been on the game for a couple of years at least. I started by working at a place called the sexy nude beach earning tips by dancing. I had a default avatar at first, but after visiting many freebie places, I got myself a decent nude avatar that I was proud of, and a few bikinis. I spent days just dancing and talking for tips, and met a man who told me he actually had earned quite a lot of money from this game by starting just as I did. He then moved into making objects until he could afford his first parcel then he rented that out until the fact that he made enough money to actually retire from work.

The information was a bit of inspiration, and I soon after met someone who allowed me to use her parcel to build and leave a shop box on. After making enough lindens, I rented a shop box zone and said my goodbyes to her. I met many people, a few scary ones, but enough decent ones to remind me that I was on the game to make lindens. I soon realized that money would come to me if I kept my items cheap and kept them easy to make so I could turn a new one out in a single day.

So let's get this next part out of the way.

1. Most of my items are adult orientated. If you've seen one of my items on your child's account, and it's an adult part, then your kid must have activated adult settings. As far as I know this is still done via verification, and somehow they verified as an adult. Don't ask me how I don't know.
2. I assume no responsibility for what you or anyone else has done with my object. I don't know, I don't want to know.
3. I am on the game strictly to make money. Don't pm me looking for a good time, or thinking if you're my friend you get a freebie. I only give out freebies to people I've known a while, or those whose help I enlisted in some shape or form.
4. Drop me a notecard if you're having a problem. Most of the time, I'm not checking my emails for pms, and a notecard is an easy way for you to ask me about redelivery or something. I tend to not catch pms right away, and responding is a hassle if it doesn't show up online when I log in.
5. You can't pm me in the game if I'm online. This is why I said, Drop me a notecard.
6. Why do I make adult orientated things? Sex sells my friend. I learned that the hard way. My best selling items that are sexual outsell my normal items 2 to 1, easily.
7. Custom objects - I do this within reason, and usually only for those who offer me a significant amount of lindens to do so. My usual price is 500 lindens up front, but it depends on the detail, or difficulty, and prices do rise depending on what you need. I work at my own pace and when it's done, I will let you know. Harassing me will make me cancel the project.

8. Refunds - I don't do them, So don't ask. I will not give you a 9 linden refund if you don't like an object, and if you've contacted me and paid for a custom job and you don't like it then tough shit. Sorry to say this but too many people think that they deserve a refund for no good reason. You get what you pay for, and if you've been unreasonable about something, then you definitely deserve to get what you got.

Again, thank you for your interest in my products. If you haven't bought them, I hope you do. Either way, have a nice day.
